WOOTEN SPEAKS TO LARGE CROWD ON AMERICANISM

Little Rock Banker Appears In Auditorium Tuesday Evening. Other Dignities Present For Lecture.

Ben H. Wooten, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank, Little Rock, speaking before a large crowd in the Auditorium Tuesday night, stirred his audience with a lecture entitled: "Don't Sell Amer'ca Short," in which he stressed that Americanism is the most priceless possession of every American child.

Mr. Wooten began his speech by showing that the need of the hour is for the American people to find the wisdom to shape their course, also that Amer'ca's first duty is to solve the economic problems which confront us.

"We have the men, the money, the materials, and the markets regardless of what happens abroad to provide real prosperity for everyone in America if we do not desert the American way of doing business," Mr. Wooten said. "Americanism," he explained, "differs from all other 'isms' in that under it the individual is the unit of society and has the right to take steps to satisfy any worthy desire or ambition."

He summarized "a line of products" which have been sold by the United States in her 150 years existence, namely: opportunity, equality under the law, self-respect, inviolability of personal liberty, freedom of speech and of the press, and opportunity. The last has been the most popular and the best seller, he said.

He prophesied the winter of 1942 to be the best year we have ever experienced, provided we keep out of the European conflict.

Within ten years after four of the worst panics we recovered from the shock they left, he recalled.

"In a material way we have the greatest nation on earth. We have 17 billion dollars in gold, which is 2-3 of the world's supply. We produce 70 % of the world's oil, 60 % of the wheat and cotton, and 50 % of its copper and iron. Although we have only 7 % of the world's population, we have 60 % of the world's telephones, 80 % of its motor vehicles, 85 % of its radios and 95 % of its bathtubs. We consume 75 % of its silk," quoted Mr. Wooten.

He pointed out that private enterprise and work are the only ends that will open the frontiers we have today, such as the frontiers in medicine, religion, and science.

Concerning the discussion these days as to whether America can stay out of war, the speaker advised that before letting our sympathies get the better of our judgment it might be well to reflect upon how we were treated following the other war.

The result, as pointed out, was instead of a large group of strong healthy men, a land dotted with many hospitals filled with thousands of mentally and physically crippled veterans, in addition to which there are thousands of men drawing some kind of monthly compensation for physical defects incurred during the war.

"When our flag goes by doesn't it make a lump rise in your throat or bring a trace of a tear? It should. There, waving in the breeze, is your sole assurance of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, for behind its waving beauty lurks no hideous dictator, for under its rippling glory all men are free and equal. No one person has the power to tell you how to think, what to say, or when and how to worship," continued

Winning Orators

DENNIS ALLEN

MARIE BRANNEN

Dennis Allen, Marie Brannen Are Co-winners Of Annual Press Club Oratorical Events

Take Close Decisions Over Bentley, Timmerman, And Leasure In Final Round. Judges Have Difficulty In Making Selections.

Dennis Allen, freshman from Searcy, won first place in the men's division of the Bison's oratory contest, finals of which were held in chapel last week while Marie Brannen, senior from Jacksonville, Florida, captured the award in the women's division.

Others who survived the preliminaries were Mildred Leasure, in the women's group, and S. F. Timmerman and Virgil Bentley in the men's. Ordinarily only two men would have been chosen to participate in the finals, but the judges decided to break this rule due to the difficulty of picking the two best of the three leaders.

Allen spoke on the American Indians, calling his subject "Spartans of the West." He emphasized the noble and admirable traits in the Indian character, and the great number of things we owe to them. "Our debt of gratitude is monumental in its enormity," he said.

Miss Brannen's subject was stated simply as "The Home." Through it she pictured the beauties of the ideal home, filled with love, cheerfulness, consideration, usefulness, and Godliness.

Timmerman spoke on "Building Monuments," while Bentley told some of "The Costs of War." Miss Leasure chose as her subject "The American Way."

Judges were Pres. George S. Benson, Dean L. C. Sears, and Professor Edwin Hughes. Decisions were based 60% on style of delivery and 40% on the content of the speech.

Miss Elliott's Pupils Appear In Recital Sunday Afternoon

Pupils of Miss Mary Elliott appeared in the third piano ensemble of the year Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the organ studio.

Numbers on the program included a trio, "Gay Gondoliers" by Vandevere—Lois Benson, Ruth Benson, and Mary Snow; and a quartette, "Long Ago In France" by Vandevere—Miss Mary Elliott, Lois Benson, Mary Snow, and Ruth Benson.

The remaining numbers, duets, were as follows:

"The Sun's Goodnight" by Spaulding—Lois Benson and Miss Mary Elliott.

"The Galloping Horse" by Pierson—Ruth Benson and Mary Snow.

"Spring Song" by Mendelssohn—Betty Bergner and Lavonne Thornton.

"Le Petit Moulin" by Landry—Margaret Alice Redus and Miss Mary Elliott.

"In a Persian Market" by Ketelbey—Miss Mary Elliott and Wanda Hartsell.

"Dizzy Fingers" by Zex Confrey—Wanda Hartsell and Miss Mary Elliott.

"Moment Musicale" by Schubert—Claude Guthrie and Miss Mary Elliott.

"Coasting" by Burleigh—Claude Guthrie and Miss Mary Elliott.

No Bison Will Be Issued Next Week

Due to the coming term examinations this week The Bison will not be published next week.

This move is to allow members of the Press Club to prepare for the examinations. Students are asked to please remember this announcement and not expect from the busy staff a paper next Tuesday.

Wright Speaks On Sunday Broadcast

Madison Wright, preacher, evangelist, and missionary, was the guest speaker on the Sunday radio program sponsored by the college church.

His speech was a "good old fashioned exhortation," reminiscent of the time when religion was even more solid and seriously taken than in most instances today.

Mr. Wright was a schoolmate of Dr. J. N. Armstrong back in 1896, but since then they have gone their separate ways and neither knew of the other's work until Mr. Wright dropped in on Dr. Armstrong Saturday night.

During the past forty-four years, Mr. Wright has been a missionary in all of the forty-eight states and has preached in most of the provinces in Canada and in Alaska.

A.R.C. FIRST AID COURSE OFFERED IN SPRING TERM

Mrs. Walter Larkins, College Nurse, Authorized To Instruct In This Course. Classes To Meet All Term.

First Aid is to be offered for the first time on the campus, next quarter. Mr. Walter Larkins has agreed to teach a standard Red Cross course.

It will consist of lectures and practical demonstrations. The latter is to include bandaging, treatment of fractures, control of bleeding, proper method of giving artificial respiration, what to do in common emergencies, and transportation of patients.

Twenty students are desired to begin the course the first of next week at 2:15 one day a week. The exact day will be decided later.

Standard Red Cross certificates will be given to each student completing the course.

The nurse received her training at the Ohio Vally General Hospital at Wheeling, West Virginia, where she graduated. She completed a year of graduate work at Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Larkins was employed by the American Red Cross during the years from 1934 to 1939. She has seen service in the flood disasters, assisted in typhoid epidemics, worked with Girl Scout groups, and taught Red Cross classes in "Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick" and "First Aid."

Mrs. Larkins has served in the capacity of school nurse for the last two quarters.

Fourth Lyceum Well Received Thursday Evening

"The Hill Between" was produced before a crowd of playgoers Thursday.

This folk-drama was written by Lulu Vollmer author of "Moonshine and Honeysuckle" and "Sun-up."

It portrayed some very tense and dramatic moments as well as some very funny situations.

The play was well cast, and the audience was enthusiastic in their reception of it.

The ushers were Annette Bean, Frances Stroud, Nancy Fern Vaughan, and Fayetta Coleman. Margaret Alice Redus, Charles Huddleston, Ruth Benson, Louise Moore, Frances Stroud and Virginia O'Neal were in charge of the properties. Stage and lights were managed by Levi Matlack, Charles Huddleston, Milton Poole, Carlon Hocutt, and Orville Coleman.

The make-up artists were Virginia O'Neal, Enid Coleman, Vernon Boyd, and Margaret Alice Redus.

Following the lyceum, pictures were made for the Petit Jean by Paul Shira.

Men's Glee Club To Appear At Des Arc

The men's glee club will make a trip to Des Arc Thursday evening.

The trip will be sponsored by Esther Adams, a former student of Harding, now teaching in Des Arc. The glee club will be assisted by the girl's trio and the male quartet.

Dramatic Club Given Charter In Alpha Psi Omega

Timmerman Wins First In L. C. Snapshot Contest

First place in the annual L. C. Snapshot Contest, which closed March 4, was awarded to S. F. Timmerman.

The winning picture was a shot of S. F. and Maxine Paxson taken on the Texas Club outing to Doniphan Lake. A 1940 edition of the Petit Jean will be given as the prize.

J. P. Thornton won second place with his snapshot of Professor Rhodes seated in his classroom reading The Bison. His reward is an 8"x10" enlargement of the picture.

Emerson Flannery was awarded third place. His picture showed Jessie Coriell Flannery standing beside the lily pond with the boys' dormitory in the background. A 5"x7" enlargement of the shot is his prize.

Professor Neil B. Cope served as judge of the contest. Many of the pictures will be entered in the snapshot section of the Petit Jean.

'Campus Clean-up Week' Declared

President George S. Benson has declared March 18th to March 23rd inclusive as Harding "Campus Clean-up Week."

With the cooperation we are expecting from the campus workers we promise to put the campus in first class order this week. Then we are going to depend upon the student body as a whole to keep it in first class order. There are three ways you can help:

1. Place all scraps of paper and other litter in the waste cans—not on the ground.

2. Pick up any piece of waste paper you see thrown on the ground, and thus help to create a general sentiment for an orderly campus.

3. Keep on the walks and do not help to beat out paths as the new grass is beginning to grow.

We know the Harding students appreciate an orderly campus, and we know your cooperation can be depended upon. Remember this is "CLEAN-UP WEEK."

All campus workers are requested to report for work on Monday, March 18.

Healy And Mills Entertain Dorcas Clubbers Friday

Doris Healy and Mrs. Margaret Mills entertained members of the Dorcas Club Friday afternoon in the home ec dining room.

There were three entries in the St. Patrick's Day Centpiece Contest, with Lillian Walden taking first place. Other contestants were Mrs. Mills and Mary Bess Lentz. T. Rose Terry and Leah Barr were the judges. A soapdish was awarded the winner.

During the business meeting plans were discussed for the page in the Petit Jean.

Six Campus Players Awarded Places In Nat'l Frat

The Dramatic Club received a bid to become a member of the Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity, and as soon as the installation ceremony is completed the club will be affiliated with them as the Eta Omega chapter.

"It is not necessary to mention the prestige and advantages of belonging to such a fraternity, especially since the next goal of Harding is an endowment and entrance into the North Central Association," stated Mrs. O. M. Coleman head of the dramatics department.

Membership in this organization will offer several advantages to dramatics here. It should strengthen the department and give the student members some thing worthwhile to work toward, as it is strictly an honorary fraternity.

It permits Harding to take her place with other colleges, and it enables the dramatic club to produce good plays with a reduction of royalty.

Ex-students are also eligible to belong to this fraternity, and it should be an inducement to them to keep in touch with Harding and the dramatic work here.

"We have several Campus Players who are in line for membership in Alpha Psi Omega in the spring," Mrs. Coleman revealed, "but a student cannot become a member of the chapter by their playing ability alone. He must know how to work, and have the correct attitude toward work. No "white collar" boy or girl is eligible for a place in this fraternity."

Six Campus Players were selected for membership in this national organization, because of their service, playing ability, and attitude toward dramatics. Those selected were Bill Stokes, Jack Wood Sears, Clifton Cochran, L. D. Frasier, Virginia O'Neal, and Eva Thompson.

Lloyd Brents Speaks In Chapel Saturday

Lloyd Brents, senior from Cleveland, Arkansas, who will graduate this term, spoke in chapel Saturday morning.

This is the first of the group of speeches to be made by senior boys this year.

Lloyd stated that he felt he had received something at Harding he would lack had he gone to another school. He said he had learned the secret of contentment.

"Things people look for in contentment are wealth, power, knowledge, and worldly pleasures," said Lloyd, "but the contentment that I get at Harding which would help me go out and face the world is expressed in Solomon's words: 'Fear God and keep his commandments.'"

During his career at Harding, Lloyd was a member of the Lambda Sigma Club, Arkansas Club, Press Club and Campus Players of the Air.

Clarence Wilson is the other graduate of this term. He is the work supervisor for the college.

PATRONIZE BISON ADVERTISERS

Do you watch the Bison ads? Do you notice what business houses cooperate with Harding?

Most of the prominent, outstanding business men and women in Searcy cooperate with the Bison. They help us in financing the cost of printing, and in return, they receive advertising.

Every student of Harding College can make that band of cooperation stronger. The business people look to the Bison as a student representative. They expect a fair return for their advertising. And it is only fair that when we go to town to trade, we patronize those who show the most interest in us and are willing to give us the best service.

Watch the ads! Let Bison advertisers be your places of buying something, tell the proprietor that you noticed his ad. Advise your friends to do likewise.

All of the stores and shops in town will appreciate your dropping in and shopping. The proprietors and those who serve you will do their best to give you courteous service at reasonable cost.

The dealers in town handle all brands of nationally advertised products. Their goods are of as high quality as you could find anywhere. So why not patronize them?

Remember, Bison advertisers are the ones most interested in Harding. They are capable of taking care of your needs. Mention seeing their ads and tell your friends to trade with them too.

Remember also that their cooperation of advertising in the Bison, helps us in printing our school paper.

Keep your eyes open for ads of the progressive, wide-awake, businesses of Searcy. They give the best service.

Therefore, let us patronize Bison advertisers.

LET'S DO THIS RIGHT!

As children we were scolded for slamming doors; finally we learned, after some severe chastisement. An audience of four hundred grown people ought to be able to remedy any given situation upon one suggestion.

But several suggestions have been made and still some thoughtlessly bang the song books into the racks. Perhaps a method of silent book depository would not be out of order. The reason for the grating noise is the pebble grain on the book cover rubbing on the edge of the rack. If the book is held vertically and pressed lightly against the smooth seat back and slowly lowered into the rack until contact with the bottom is made, then the book may be safely released. That is a silent way of depositing books without any disturbing noise. Try it, it will work everytime.

Meditations

MABLE DEAN McDONIEL

The orations were excellent this year. Even those eliminated in the preliminaries were good. The speeches showed thought and good construction; the delivery, smoothness and very few speech defects. The range of subject-matter created variety, too. Spartans of the West.....Building Monuments.... The Cost of War....The American Way....Home.... All were treated differently and well.

Work on the 1940 volume of under-graduate verse has begun. The judges, Dean Sears and Mr. Cope, are now selecting those poems that are to appear in the book this year. Selections will be made from the poems written by members of the club throughout the year. This volume, published yearly, preserves the work of the club.

Another term draws to the end—to be completed by the usual round of tests. Most of us like to be tested, if we are able to stand the test. Tests are a game. We answer all the questions we can and wait to see if we passed. We go to the classroom anticipating a test we can pass. We never know just what to expect until we enter the room and we breathe rapidly as the teacher takes a piece of chalk and begins to write.

We may know the answer immediately—perhaps we don't. If not, we try to write all around the question trying to convince the teacher we do know something about the matter, although it is not what he wants us to know. But if we can recall nothing at all about the question, we always leave a blank space—plenty of room—for as we go on to the next question perhaps it will come to us like a flash.

The library didn't seem like the same place while Miss Score was ill. Everyone asks for her when they can't find a book. It was like being without an authority on the subject.

Poetry for me can't be hard. If it is hard, I don't write. When a feeling overflows, I try to catch a little of it in words. I haven't learned to prune or trim yet—perhaps that's why what I write doesn't sound better at times.

With the approach of Spring comes clean-up week—and it's only right that Harding should have a clean-up with every student taking part. As the grass becomes greener, the trees start putting forth new leaves and the violets and jonquils bloom again, the old brown, scared leaves look out of place and obstruct the beauty of the campus. Under the efficient leadership of Mr. Hopper and with the cooperation of every student, the campus should soon look as fresh as Spring herself.

A 500 pound elephant skull has been acquired by the University of Texas.

Between 1893 and 1898, dormitory students at Texas Wesleyan College had to attend chapel twice daily. Young ladies couldn't correspond with anyone besides their immediate families, except on the written consent of their parents, and all incoming and outgoing letters were given careful supervision by the house mother.

Hunter College is doing special research on the study habits of its undergraduates.

Some good advice:

Life is a horse
With a bridle and bit—
It will drive you
If you don't drive it.

Come to think of it nobody knows the age of the human race, but most of us agree that it is old enough to know better.

Thought of the week:

Before marriage a man yearns for a wife. After marriage the "y" is silent.

I read the other day that an eel will swim 3,000 miles to find himself a mate. Then, I suppose the eel will say that the lady eel "lured" him into matrimony.

"Oh, would I were a bird," she sang,

Her high notes were all flat.
His comment caused the girl a pang,
"If so I'd call the cat."

ed the conclusion that a man rarely gets to be as old as he feels at twenty-one.

Spirit Of Christ

Conducted by S. F. TIMMERMAN

By Lowell Bland

The following description of Christ is said to have been written by Publicus Lentulus, president of Judea in the reign of Tiberius Caesar, to that monarch of Rome. It appeared first in the writings of St. Anselm of Canterbury in the eleventh century:

"There lives at this time in Judea a man of singular virtue, whose name is Jesus Christ, whom the barbarians esteem as a prophet, but his followers love and adore him as the offspring of the immortal God.

"He calls back the dead from the graves and heals all sorts of diseases with a word or touch.

"He is a tall man, well shaped and of an amiable and reverent aspect; his hair of a color that can hardly be matched, falling into graceful curls, waving about and very agreeably couching upon his shoulders, parted on the crown of his head, running as a stream to the front after the fashion of the Nazarenes; his forehead high, large and imposing; his cheeks without spot or wrinkle, beautiful with a lovely red; his nose and mouth formed with exquisite symmetry; his beard, and of a color suitable to his hair, reaching below his chin and parted in the middle like a fork; his eyes bright blue, clear and serene, look innocent, dignified, manly and mature.

In proportion of body most perfect and captivating; his arms and hands delectable to behold.

"He rebukes with majesty, counsels with mildness, his whole address, whether in word or deed, being eloquent and grave. No man has seen him laugh, yet his manners are exceedingly pleasant, but he has wept frequently in the presence of men. He is temperate and wise.

"A man of his extraordinary beauty and divine perfection, surpassing the children of men in every sense."

The above word picture is, indeed, interesting and is in harmony with the scriptures with respect to our Lord's character and manners. But the picture that is of prime importance to us is the mental one we have of his character and inner being. We are told (Matt. 1:23) that Christ was God on earth and that we are to be perfect even as he is perfect. (Matt. 5:48). Yes, God, in Christ, has painted a perfect picture for us to strive to reproduce in our lives; he has presented a vivid pattern for us to sojourn in this world of iniquity; he has set a goal for us to work and suffer for. God commands that we be reflectors of his holiness, shining more and more unto the perfect day. Truly, God has painted his side of the picture and has left us to ours with his promise he will ever help in time of trouble.

But how can we show ourselves approved unto God as workmen who need not to be ashamed? How can we be reflectors of Christ except we put him in our hearts and live him out in our lives? (Ga. 2:20).

There is no way to put Christ in our hearts but by study and meditation. And there's no way to stand approved in the sight of God except we be doers and liverers of what the Christ in our hearts commands us to do. Furthermore, it is vital that the TRUE picture of Christ dwells in us. And the best and surest way that God has of stamping Christ in his purity and richness on our hearts is through OUR individual study of HIS word, and not indirectly through a biased preacher who seeks to please the flesh. Let us by all means prove all things and hold fast only to that which is good.

Is the mental picture you have of Christ in complete harmony with the one God painted in the Bible? And is Christ living and working in you today?

Backstage

BY EARL STOVER

Congratulations to the winners of the oratorical contest. I enjoyed the runoff a great deal. All the speeches were good, as was the delivery.

The judges had a difficult task in choosing the winners, and the rankings were very close. In the women's division, Marie was given 252 points, Mildred 250½, out of a possible three hundred (one hundred points for each of the judges). In the men's division Dennis received 255½, Virgil 246, and S. F. 245½. However, despite the fact that Virgil ranked one half point higher than S. F., two of the judges gave S. F. second place.

One thing that struck me as being an outstanding phase of the contest was the sportsmanship displayed by the losers. It isn't so hard to be a good winner, but it is unusual to find that every loser is a good loser. In this particular case, I haven't heard a word of complaint from any of the losers.

I missed the lyceum Thursday night, but everyone who saw it seemed to have found it better than had been expected.

Apparently some of the students, thinking that the play had been rushed to premature completion, were not expecting a very good presentation, and were agreeably surprised with the quality of the play.

Las Companeras Wind Up Term Social Functions By Entertainment At Mayfair

Amidst the flowery gayety and beauty of a spring garden, the L. C. Club entertained with their annual banquet Saturday evening at the Mayfair Hotel.

A cobblestone path ran through the lawn and beneath a trellis on which wisteria of pink and lavender hues entwined. A pond with water lilies growing in it occupied one corner of the garden and a bird bath encircled with tulips stood near the central path. Brilliantly colored hollyhocks bounded the garden on all sides.

Two miniature trellises with tiny wisteria clinging to them were the center of attraction on the table. Nut cups wrapped with purple cellophane from which grew jonquils, served as favors and placecards. On the front of each program folder was a spray of pink wisteria. Candles were attractively arranged on the tables.

Leonard Kirk, serving as master of ceremonies, introduced the following program: invocation by S. F. Timmerman; toast to the guests by Connie Ford; response by Don Bentley; "Easter Parade" sung by Jack Wood Sears; a reading by Kern Sears; "In the Garden of Tomorrow" sung by Maxine Paxson; toast to the sponsor by Ann French; response by Miss Hollar.

After the banquet the group attended the show "Eternally Yours" at the Plaza Theater.

L. C. members and their dates were Connie Ford and Leonard Kirk, Maxine Paxson and S. F. Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the members of the R. F. C. Club and their escorts will attend the Rialto Theater to see "Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Refreshments will be served at Headlee's to the following:

Mary Brown and James Dumas, Dorothy Brown and Foy O'Neal, Juanita Weaver and Wayne Smeethers, Vivian Smith and Collis Campbell, Fayette Coleman and Floyd Chubb, Marilyn Thornton and Dennis Harris, Ruby Hall and Frank Blue, Juanita Trawick, Marjorie Harwood, Wanda Lee Trawick, and Connie Ford, sponsor, and Don Bentley.

Roger Bartley, Mack Greenway, and Guy Thompson were week end visitors on the campus.

Club Leaders Given Tea By Home Ec Dept.

Presidents and vice-presidents of organizations on the campus attended a tea given in their honor Sunday afternoon from three to four in the home economics dining room by the foods department, under the guidance of Miss Elsie Mae Hopper.

St. Patrick's Day was the theme carried out in the decorations. The centerpiece was a small garden of shamrocks in an enclosure the shape of a large shamrock, reflected on a large round mirror. The centerpiece was designed by Lillian Walden.

The guests were received by Miss Hopper and served by Wallana Floyd and Mary Alberta Ellis.

Those attending were Ilo Argo, Constance Ford, Nancy Salners, Leah Barr, Edith Landis, Virginia O'Neal, Frances Novak, Marion Graham, Charlene Bergner, Ann French, Nancy Fern Vaughan, Mabel Dean McDaniel, Marguerite O'Banion, Lamar Baker, Hugh Rhodes, Foy O'Neal, L. D. Frashier, Cortez Ehl, Buck Harris, Robert Cronin, Gene Koken, Orville Coleman, Paul Keller, Leonard Kirk, and Dr. George S. Benson.

Vernice Burford, Lillian Walden, Mildred Cleek, and Iva Farris assisted in serving.

Seniors Honored With Buffet Supper By Home Ec Department

The home economics department entertained the senior class Wednesday night with a buffet supper in the dining room of the department.

The room was illuminated by large white tapers on each table. The guests were received by Miss Elsie Mae Hopper, and Miss Pauline Owens presided at the table. Members of Home Economics 112 prepared and served the entire meal.

Lamar Baker, president of the senior class, announced the following program: girl's trio composed of Wallana Floyd, Frances Welch, and Wanda Hartsell, accompanied by Maxine Paxson in two selections; piano solo by Mary Agnes Evans; vocal solo by Wanda Hartsell, and speech by Mr. John Lee Dykes, sponsor of the class.

Those attending were Leah Barr, Charlene Bergner, Jewel Blackburn, Marie Brannen, Mary Agnes Evans, Helen Hughes, Virginia O'Neal, Margaret Alice Redus, Valda Montgomery, T. Rose Terry, Eva Thompson, Nancy Fern Vaughan, James Adams, Lamar Baker, Oscar Drake, Cortez Ehl, Emerson Flannery, L. D. Frashier, Buck Harris, Douglas Harris, Houston Itin, Gene Koken, Jack Wood Sears, Morgan Poole, Hugh Rhodes, Roy Roe, William Sanders, Joe Spaulding, Bill Stokes, J. P. Thornton, Granville Westbrook, Clarence Wilson, Murrey Wilson, and Claude Guthrie.

Mrs. Charles Huddleston, Dr. and Mrs. George S. Benson, Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dykes, and Mrs. Florence M. Cathcart.

In conclusion he said, "Let's not sell America short in our conversation, in our thinking, in our appreciation, in our business planning, in our loyalty and, if need be in our sacrifices. Let's keep America out of Europe, and better yet keep Europe out of America. Let's take advantage of our opportunities by aggressively promoting our respective businesses, and out of a heart full of gratitude thank God each day for your America, my America, our home, the most blessed place this side of heaven."

To start the program off, the girls trio composed of Wanda Hartsell, Frances Welch, and Wallana Floyd sang "A Spirit Flower" by Campbell and "The Star" by James Rogers. They were followed by the Men's Glee Club, who sang "Tradi Nuka," "Latvian Frolic," and "Sound the Trumpet," a Russian marching song by I. B. Sergei.

Dr. Benson made some introductory remarks and introduced Mr. H. H. Dawson, secretary of the Board of Trustees of the college, who introduced Mr. Wooten.

Little Rock Ensemble To Broadcast Today

A small ensemble and a triple trio from Little Rock High School will be featured on this afternoon's broadcast over KLRA from the speech studio at 4:30.

The ensemble, directed by Mrs. Ruth Klepper Settle, will sing "Calm O'er The Hill" by Ritterhouse, "On the Morrow," an English folk song, and "Roll, Chariot, Roll" arranged by Noble Cain.

The group is composed of Martha Huff, Midge Manley, Martha Johnson, Evelyn Mayhan, Sara Louise Steed, Cherry Farris, Betty Lou Kramer, Clinton Owen, Bob Wilson, Horace Moore, Bruce Thompson, Robert Thomas, and J. P. Van Pell.

The triple trio will sing three numbers, "Green Cathedral" by Hahn, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" by Cain, and "Whispering" by Schonberger. A trio will sing "When Day Is Done."

The trios include Martha Huff, Betty Carter, Betty Jean Thompson, Evelyn Hayhan, Sara Louise Steed, Rosalee Webster, Cherry Farris, Betty Lou Cramer, and Juanita Jernigan.

Dennis Allen, winner of the men's division of the Press Club oratorical contest, will give his oration.

Myrene Williams and Valda Montgomery returned to the campus last night after spending the week end in Pine Bluff.

Debaters Make Creditable Showing In State Meet

Harding debaters made a creditable showing in the state tournament held at Conway last Friday and Saturday.

S. F. Timmerman and Emerson Flannery entered the senior men's division which had been consolidated with the women's section. This is the first time that this plan had been tried in a state meet.

They won three of their four preliminary debates and advanced to the quarterfinals where they were eliminated by a girls team from Arkansas State Teachers.

The junior division, in which Orvid Mason and Lee Farris, Margaret Lakatos and Justine Beavers, were entered was conducted on a different plan. Each team debated six times, and the team with the best record of wins and losses won.

Mason and Farris won four and lost two, gaining third place. They were beaten only by the first place winners from A. S. T. C. and the Hendrix team which won second place.

Joe Spaulding and Elmer L'Roy failed to survive the preliminaries.

Margaret Lakatos and Justine Beavers won one and lost five during the tournament.

Little Rock Banker Honored With Dinner Tuesday Evening

Mr. B. H. Wooten, banker from Little Rock, was President Benson's guest of honor for dinner Tuesday, March 5 at 6:30 p.m. Other important guests were also present at the dinner, including representatives from the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce and Mayor B. L. Oliver from Searcy.

Under the supervision of Miss Elsie Mae Hopper, the dinner was prepared by the Home Ec department. The table was centered with a large round mirror in the center reflecting a crystal bowl filled with asters. White candles with crystal holders furnished the light.

Serving the dinner were Lillian Walden, Mary Charlotte Bates, Virginia McDaniels, Hollie Gann, Maude Emma Webb, and Mary Alberta Ellis.

Ganus Decisions Pryor In Boxing For 175lb. Crown

Chubb, Defee, Rhodes, Lay All Win Titles In Respective Weights

After the last bout was fought and the final decisions made Defee, Chubb, Rhodes, Lay, and Ganus still remained undefeated and automatically became the champions of the various weight division.

In the light heavyweight division Clifton Ganus clearly out-pointed L. E. Pryor Jr. to gain the title. The southpaw fighter connected at will and piled up a lead in the early rounds that allowed him to take it easy in the last round. Pryor connected solidly only a few times, and was clearly fighting on the defense.

Jack Lay and J. L. Hollis became exhausted in the second and the referee awarded the fight to Lay. The bout proved not to be a fight at all but a farce. Lay would lead with his chin and Hollis would swing. Lay was so quick on his feet that he could dance out of reach before the blow would land. Few blows were struck, as Lay seemed to be having so much fun tormenting his opponent that he forgot to hit him when there was an opening. Lay was declared winner in the middleweight class.

In the senior welterweight division Hugh Rhodes just hit Hopper too hard and too often for the decision to be otherwise. It was very evident that the old and more exper-

Academy Swim Meet Won By Juniors

The juniors over ran the seniors yesterday to win the Academy swimming meet. The juniors collected 32 points to 22 for the seniors.

The seniors were outclassed throughout the meet by the more experienced swimmers in the junior class. Some of the events were very close, but the juniors were able to pull out in front and capture four of the six first places.

T. M. Hogan took high honors in meet with 26 points to his credit. Jimmie Bradley took second place honors with 19 1-3 points.

Results of the events are as follows:

20 yd. free style—T. M. Hogan, junior and Jimmie Bradley, senior. Time: 12 seconds.

20 yd. back stroke—T. M. Hogan, junior and Jimmie Bradley, senior. Time: 15 seconds.

60 yd. relay—Hall, Coleman, and T. M. Hogan, juniors and Bell, Chandler, and Bradley, seniors. Time: 41 seconds.

Underwater swim — Huddleston and T. M. Hogan, junior. Time: 20 seconds.

20 yd. breast stroke—T. M. Hogan, junior and Jimmie Bradley, senior. Time: 18 seconds.

Diving—Bradley, senior and Hall, junior.

enced Rhodes knew too much about boxing to lose.

Floyd Chubb and Kenneth Davis battled it out for the welterweight title, and Chubb received the decision. The champion-to-be hit his opponent more often and harder and deserved the decision. He had Davis groggy early in the fight, but Davis kept right on punching until the bell ended the bout. Davis hit Chubb often and amassed several points, but the punches were not powerful enough to hurt his opponent.

In the lightweight division H. B. Defee won over Reese Walton. In the first round both of the boys dropped their guards and started slugging. Defee hit harder and more often to gain the judges' decision and the title. It was a hard and close fight in which any thing could have happened had some of the wild blows landed on a chin.

Girls' Badminton Well Under Way

In the girls' badminton league the first round of the doubles has been completed, and the finals are to be played off by Saturday night.

The first rounds required the best two out of three games with the finals requiring the best three out of five.

From several reports the games have been very close thus far. Some of the girls were lucky enough to draw byes in the first round. Those drawing byes were Vernice Burford and Mary Alberta Ellis, Esther Maple and Esther Harner, Louise Nicholas and Marion Camp, and Valda Montgomery and Verle Craver.

Four teams had to compete for their berths in the second round. In a close and hard fought game Barbara Keeler and Mabel Grace Turnage beat Myrene Williams and Mary Dell 2 to 1. Eva Thompson and Stella Wilson downed Lola Harp and Ina Jo Crawford 2 to 1. Odean Floyd and Wallana Floyd swamped Pauline Johnson and Mary Elizabeth Skidmore 2 to 0. Marjorie Meeks and Frances Williamson smothered Teddie Murphy and Bonnie Lee Harris 2 to 0.

The girls are really fighting to be among the final and much honored fifteen who will take medals as intramural winners. Only two more events will be offered.

TENNIS

Harding just completed one of its best tennis competitions in a good many years. There were several boys who played some good tennis and who I didn't think had it in them to go as far as they did in the tournament. The upset of the meet came when Wilks defeated Stevens in the semifinals. Stevens was rated as the best player in school, but he failed to come through to beat Wilks. Both of the boys played a really good game, and I hand it to Wilks that he was really on or he never could have defeated Stevens. Equally as good a game, but one that didn't go the full three sets, was the championship game between Wilks and Yingling. Neither of the boys took any chances that the other might get a break which might prove the turning point in the match. Yingling won the school championship from Wilks, but he had a hard time doing it. Both were out there to add another victory to their number. It will not be very long until the tennis meet in doubles will be played, and I am wondering if the combination of Wilks and Yingling can be beaten. Well, we shall wait and see. Both of them play about the same brand of tennis, and they should be better matched than any other team in school.

GIRLS' BADMINTON

There aren't so many on the campus who know that the girls are having any kind of sports, or it seems so from the way they turn out to see them play. The girls have been playing badminton during the last week, and the way some of them can handle that racket it seems they could give the best players in the mens' division pretty good competition. Why can't more of the students come out and see them play. Give them your support! It encourages players when there is someone on the sideline to start

GIRLS' HORSESHOE CHAMPS

You may not know it but we have a couple of champs in school, and when I say champs I mean champs. They are none other than Verle Craver and Valda Montgomery. They had a mighty hard time getting where they are in horseshoes, but they are the best horseshoes in these parts, I'm not sure, but I think they are willing to play anyone. Since the mens' horseshoe tournament is coming off this week, it would be fun just to see the girl champs play the boy champs. I wouldn't say that the boys would win either, because they would be playing two mighty good athletes.

FACTS AND FLASHES

The men's horseshoe tournament is to be held this week. A good many of them showed up fine last fall when they were tossing those shoes around on the campus. Now we will be able to see them when it comes to the real thing. The latter part of the week the boys will get together and have it out on the mat, you know; they will have a friendly get together in wrestling. There are some good wrestlers in the group who are planning on coming out, so be sure not to miss any of these matches. In only about three more weeks intramural sports will be over, and then those who are among the first fifteen will begin to live a normal life again.

Yingling Wins Tennis Championship By Defeating Wilks

Robert Yingling, former star of the varsity tennis team, defeated Gorman Wilks 7-5, 6-4 in the finals of the intramural tennis tournament for boys.

Yingling used a soft chop and continued to hit the ball back very consistently to gain the victory. Wilks played a harder, faster, and more aggressive game that was brilliant at times but not quite consistent enough to win. His powerful service kept Yingling on the defense in the first set, but his service was slower in the final set.

The champion did a splendid job of rabbit-chasing through out the match. His remarkable ability to hit the ball back time after time proved to be the deciding factor.

Probably the biggest upset of the tournament occurred when Wilks and Clark Stevens, the runner up last year, tangled in the semifinals. Stevens nearly always plays an excellent game and was the favorite to gain the title this year. But Wilks pulled too many good shots out of the bag that Stevens couldn't handle. The score was 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

In a morning match before he played Stevens, Wilks defeated Maurice Hinds 6-4, 6-0.

Yingling reached the finals by defeating Doug Harris, Lynn Buffington, Houston Hopper, and Lee Farris. Wilks had previously defeated Floyd Chubb and received a default.

The survivors of the second round were as follows: Buffington, Spencer, Yingling, Hopper, Greenway, Harris Stevens, "Blackie" Berryhill, A. W. Bennett, Wilks, Hinds, and Stirman.

In the quarterfinals Buffington received a bye, Yingling defeated Harris, Stevens defeated Cliff Ganus, and Wilks defeated Hinds.
